charming than ever, and all in sombre, unatrical black clothes, tripped up Broadway yesterday, all alone. She held a large red parasol over her head, and was coquet-ting pleasantly with the sun. "I am off again on Wednesday," she said. 'I sail on again on Wednesday," she said. "I sail on the Trave, and am going over on some important business. As I don't want to talk about it, however, I won't te ll you what it is until just before I sail; then you can't question me about it, and if you say 'Ch, Martinet's slways going to do wonders, and doesn't,' I shan't know it—do you see? I was thinking of playing abroad last time I was over, and M. Glaser, Cocuelin's representative, would have made all arrangements for me. But I was advised not to do it, so didn't. You know, I speak French better than I do German," with a smile, "but still I didn't play. It is not definitely decided yet what I am to do next sesson. The "Dreams" company now playing at the Windsor Theatre are in rather a peculiar plight. The organization was originally made up by Mr. Patsy O'Connor, of Pifth Avenue Theatre box-office recollection, and by Mr. Krewolf, who had trouble of financial nature with "The Brass Monkey." After Krewolf's flight, Mr. Patsy O'Connor owned "Dreams" all by himself. Last week, according to a member of the company, no salaries were paid and the other day it appears that Mr. O'Connor wrote to the company and declared that he would have nothing more to do with it. Tom Murphy, the star, has taken charge, and the members are now working on "the commonwealth plan," which means nothing make, nothing have. "Dreams" has been doing well during the past week, and it looks as though the organization would make money.

The auction sale of boxes for the benefit of the Actors' Amateur Athletic Association of America at the Metropolitan Opera-House occurs at the Bijou Theatre this afternoon at 4 o'clock. De Wolf Hopper is President. He is also one of the "extraordinary attractions pledged to positively appear."

' Jeanne Fortier, the Bread Winner," is to be produced at Niblo's June 10. It has been adapted from the French by Emily Soldene. Mrs. Bowers and Frank Bangs will be among others in the car.

E. E. Price will be indirectly interested with Adonis Dixey in his coming season under Duff's management at the Standard Theatre. Dixey does not care to dispense with his Rice, who has been his veritable mascot. Rice certainly did as much towards making Dixey as any manager can do for a star. And people say that the management rôle is often quite as arduous as that of the star.

Tom Whiffen is going to England, while his wife accompanies the Lyceum Theatre Company to San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Whiffen have a dainty little flat in Fourth avenue.

The three hundred and twenty-third performance of "The Old Homestead" at the Academy of Music will occur a week from to-morrow night, and that will end the phenomenal run of Denman Thompson's play for the present year. Mr. Comstock says that there will be no Metropolitan-Opera-Houseball demonstration made over Mr. Thompson. It is not improbable, however, that Manager E. G. Gilmore will indulge in a private "ball" or two in honor of the occasion. The following Monday the educated horses go to the Academy. One of the features of their performances will be "Home, Sweet Home," and "The Last Rose of Summer," which they will play on bells.

Scarcely had the last ball been thrown at Staten Island when there appeared upon the streets in New York The Evenino World's Baseball Extra with an illustrated report of the game nearly four columns long, in which the story was told so vividit, with every detail and every move from start to finish, that the tension felt by actual participants and witness at St. George was transmitted through the printed lines.

As an achievement in journalism this feat was not less remarkable than was the game in its way.

Athletes hereabouts are on the qui vive of expectancy over the great meeting to-morrow afternoon at the Berkeley Oval of the Intercollegiste Association. The interest this yes is keener than usual over this event. Instead of the race lying between Harvard and Yale. as usual, with an almost sure thing for the crimson, as has so often Been the case, the victor is as hard to pick as the winner of a horse race. Unless something very unlookedfor should occur Sherrill will surely win the 120 and 220 yards for Yale. Shearman, of Yale and Mapes, of Columbia, will make a tight No End of Fun in the SUNDAY WORLD'S fight for the broad jump. Shearman has a record of 22 feet. Mapes has leaped 21 feet 1/2 inches. West, of Pennsylvania, is the 9½ inches. West, of Pennsylvania, is the likeliest candidate for the mile. Princeton's 'dark horse' may wrest the pole vauit from Shearman, Yale, or Leavitt, Harvard. Princeton Dohm is very apt to capture the half and quarter miles. Herbert Mapes, it is claimed, has a mortgage on the 120 and 220 hurdles. Columbia will get the tug-of-war, in all probability. Coxe, of Pennsylvania, if he is in his customary form, ought to have a snap at putting the shot and hammer. McIlvane, Columbia, is apt to walk off with the mile walk. Webster, Pennsylvania, has the best chance at the high jump. It seems a little peculiar that the University of Pennsylvania is prolific in producing high jumpers. Weoster is a worthy successor of W. Byrd Page. Page.

Young Mitchell is expected in town to-day from Boston. In all probability he will make a visit to the Police trasette office and meet Johnny Reagan's move of yesterday half way.

Reagan does not fight very much on paper, but he acts instead of "shooting off his mouth." He is ever eager to fight any good man. He was greatly disappointed in not being able to get on a match with his old opponent, Dempsey. His delight at the all but certainty of his meeting such a first-class man as young Mitchell is proportionately creat.

Reagan is a great fancier of dogs. He has just become the possessor of a magnificent St. Bernard about the size of an Alderney President Fulda, of the California Athletic Club, telegraphed Jinmy Carroll yesterday to come on immediately to San Francisco, and offering to pay all his expenses and a salary of $.00 a week until he fought. Of course, Mr. Fulda meant for him to meet Joe Ellingsworth, who was to have fought Jack Dempsey, only the Nonpareil wanted $5,000. Carroll telegraphied back that he wanted no salary, but would fight for a purse. The Club now will probably offer a purse for Ellingsworth and Carroll, which would be the right thing for it to do under the circumstances. Mr. Fulda said in the event of his not getting on a hight, the Club would give him $250 in addition to his salary. But Carroll does not want a salary—he wants a fight.

Dick Toner and a large party of sporting men got back last night from Ike Williams's benefit at Bridgeport Wednesday. They re-port that the affair was unusually entertain-ing. The wind-up between Ike Williams and Jimmy Carroll was very hot. Dick came near having his head punched off trying to make the boxers "break." He was master of ceremonics.

The lacrosse games which the Harvard team had scheduled with Lehigh, Stevens Institute, the Druids, of Baltimore, and Staten Island, will be cancelled as, after eight years' uphill work trying to make lacrosse popular at the University, it has been given up as hopeless. The crimson's lacrosse team is to be disbanded. This is the reason the game was not played yesterday at Staten Island.

Mr. G. R. Fearing, of Cutler's Academy, this city, is a phenomenal athlete. Here is his performance for one day, enacted at the recent Intersholastic meeting held on the Berkeley Oval. He was victor in four events—the half mile, won in 2m. 5-1-5s., the 120 yards hurdle, 16-2-5s., three-foot hurdles; the high jump, 5-feet 84 inches; the quarter mile, 54-1-5s. He came in second at putting the shot. He broke the records in the four events out of five in which he competed. He enters Harvard in the Fall. enters Harvard in the Fall.

Gotham's oarsmen have received a worthy recruit in John D. Ryan, of Boston. who will hereafter make New York his home. Johnny O'Reagan and Ryan will compete in the double-scull race in the Harlem regatts on Memorial Day. Ryan is also pitted against Stevenson, of the New York Athletic Club. in the singles. He has been elected a member of the Union Boat Club.

This time the Valkyrie showed herself to a much better advantage by winning the match on the Thames yesterday. Her admirable performance was a source of great delight to the Royal Thames Yacht Club, who see in her a fitting competitor for the America Cup. The splendid record which she made, beating her opponents by twenty-four and forty-four minutes respectively over a 36-mile course. minutes respectively over a 36-mile course, entitles her to the name of the fastest 60-ton cutter afloat. The Deerhound was not in the race, the Yarana and Irex being her only opponents, the former greatly outsailing the latter.

Curious Mishaps.

Edward Darvell having become dissipated is discovered by his father. He goes rapidly down hill, and finally applies for lodging at the Workbouse, where he meets with a John Harwood. Next day the latter persuades Edward to receive a message for him. Edward goes to the spot and meets with his safahood wife, Belle Mortimer, from whom he learns that Harwood is her father. Mrs. Mortimer appears and suvites Edward to the house. Arriving there he is told by her that he must either make peace with his father or remonce Belle. Edward leaves the house dejectedly, and meeting Harwood aphraids him for having wittingly allowed him to meet Belle in his shabby condition. Harwood attempts to expostulate, but Edward leaves him in anger. Three days later Harwood shakes sucher appointment with his daughter. By chance Edward strolls to the woods the same day and late sheep near the meeting place. Belle gives Harwood some money. As he is leaving the place he is confronted by Mrs. Mertimer, whom he knocks senseless. Edward awakes scon after and is arrested for the assault. A brace-let, which he has found and placed in his pocket' is considered strong evidence.

When Edward Darvell was brought the listened to the evidence as given by the next day before the magistrates he was fully police constable, and found that the tady prepared to explain how he became possessed of the bracelet, and he felt pretty easy in his no other than Mrs. Mortimer, and that he mind; as, of course, when the lady who had was to be remanded until she was able to

to be described as a tramp.

But when, to his utter amazement, he who had not yet recovered consciousness was been injured recovered, she would be able to state that he had not been her assailant, and would, of course, acquit him of having robbod her.

He had given a false name at the police station, not wishing all the world to know he was wandering about in such a condition as to be described as a tramp.

was to be remanded until she was able to appear and give evidence, he hardly knew what to do for the best. He at once jumped to the conclusion that what had befallen Mrs. Mortimer was due to her having met her husband. But just before he was ordered to be taken away, it occurred to the magistrate that it would be as well, if the prisoner was to be connected with the crime, to prove that the bracelet found upon him was the property of the injured lady; and so the lady's daughter, who was not in attendance, was sent to identify the bracelet.

When Belle was placed in the witness-box and saw who the prisoner?" said the magistrate. When Belle was placed in the witness-box and saw who the prisoner?" said the magistrate. "You know the prisoner?" said the magistrate. The magnificate need a whispered conference with this stated upon my mother."

"Darvel!" "exclaimed the magistrate: "this is not the name the prisoner gave, You." It is not the name the prisoner gave, You." "It is not the magistrate to the same thought was in the mind of both. How much could either say without publishing the family secret to the world?"

"Is avail thy day not have been stated county of the case, and then he announced that look is not the prisoner gave, You." Worship, It is, I didn't care to give her version of the affair.

"Yes, Your Worship, It is, I didn't care to give her version of the same thought was in the mind of both. How much could either say without publishing the family secret to the world?

"Is aw it it judge on the ground, Your Worship to the wood say that the same thought was in the mind of both. How much could either say without publishing the family secret to the world?

"Is a with yill you that he announced that look ing at all the circumstances be thought who had been attacked county of the same thought was in the mind of both. How much could either say without publishing the family secret to the world?

"Is a with yill you the same though the world and the was only slowly comined to the affair.

"Is a with a with the offence.

Belle noted the was still the day who had been attacked county of the prisoner and the was only slowly comined to the same thought was in the mind of both. How much could either say without publishing the family secret to the world?

"Is an it limited to the affair.

"Is an it limited to the affair.

"Is an it limited to remain the prisoner and the magistrate." The mediator of the magistrate to the world and the same though the same though the was only s

by the newspapers as attractive matter to work up for their readers. The "Gentleman Tramp" was the headline in one of the half-penny evening shee s, and under this heading the writer professed to give a full, true and particular account of the life and career of the hero of the "Highgate Wood Mysters"
